

THE CUPOLA

When only the best will do, look no further than the celebrated Cupola, one of the world's most premier private dining venues. Recognized in Conde Nast Traveler's "Trips of a Lifetime," the Cupola has hosted a number of celebrities such as Michael Shumacher, Beyonce, Tom Cruise, and Halle Berry.

The elegant two-story space is housed atop Three on the Bund in what was once the bell tower. The opulent lower Cupola can accommodate two to eight guests and is ideal for intimate gatherings. The exclusive upper Cupola offers seating for two, and is arguably the most romantic seat in all of Shanghai. Guests can take in 360 degree views while enjoying special menus from Three on the Bund's award-winning restaurants, including New Heights, Whampoa Club and Jean-Georges, as well as dedicated butler service for the entire evening.

The Cupola also provides customized services upon request. For example, guests may summon a tea sommelier from the Whampoa Club to perform a traditional tea ceremony, request specialty cocktails from Jean-Georges Bar or a Limousine pick up.

Editor's Note:

Three on the Bund is Shanghai's leading epicurean lifestyle destination blending gastronomy, art, culture, and music in an elegant, sophisticated gathering place for vibrant people and stimulating ideas. It created and manages 6 award-winning restaurants and bars, The Cupola, and Shanghai Gallery of Art. It is also home to German luxury leather goods brand MCM and Unico by Mauro Colagreco located on the 1st and 2nd floors respectively.

Three on the Bund regularly hosts Three Talks, an ongoing inspirational speaker series open to public, featuring international distinguished artists, entrepreneurs and leaders as guest speakers.
